If you drive, remember event parking in city lots is only $2 for beach residents with ID even though the sign may say $10 or $15.

BUSINESS

There is a bakery at Walgreens, sort of.

Starting today there is a Pan Plus station at Walgreens offering fresh baked bread and other pastries baked right there. This is in addition to the other prepared foods already offered including salads, sandwiches, soups and sushi. Can you say yummy?

Walgreens is way more than a Pharmacy so go and support their efforts.

Remember, they offer flu shots too.

Save the pets with your old towels and Sheets.

Commissioner Deede Weithorn wants you to bring all your old sheets and towels to the 4th floor of City Hall. They will be donated to the Humane Society for homeless pets. Collection is now through October 30th. It is an easy way to clean your closets and save pets.

The Fresh Market is coming to Collins Park.

The City's land use committee voted on Monday to allow The Market Company to present a weekly market on Sundays starting as early as November 1st on the East side of Collins Avenue in the new area of the park scheduled to open in the next 2 weeks. Bravo! This will be a trial market that will also offer prepared foods. There is also an Art Market planned for one Sunday each month to coordinate with the fresh market. The plan is to have a minimum of 30 vendors each week.

Sleepless night is coming on November 7th

Save the date. There are MANY events right in Collins Park. Check it out at www.sleeplessnight.org.

Miami Spice is almost over for another season!
